"Everything's bigger in Texas. Unless, of course, you live in the small suburb of Grand Prairie. This wealthy, picturesque enclave is the kind of place where everyone knows each other and it's impossible to keep a secret long — especially at the local high school. So when a hometown sweetheart is murdered in cold blood, the cops line up all the usual suspects — the jocks, the cheerleaders, the nerds, and the dropouts — to try to solve this high school whodunit."
